Bridging the Gap from Insight to Impact

Selecting an enterprise software solution is a major business decision. Software solutions built with BI tools typically focus on data and insights only. In order to drive business impact, organizations need to select technology that lets them do more than collect and analyze data.

Corporater BMP Value Chain

Software solutions built on Corporater Business Management Platform (BMP) are engineered with five key components – data, insights, business context, planning, and execution. Linked together, these components function as a value chain that enables organizations to uncover actionable insights, review them in business context, develop a plan, and put the plan into action to drive measurable and quantifiable business outcomes.

Go Beyond Collecting Data

The value in data is its potential to generate insights that lead to business outcomes. Corporater solutions allow you to collect data using manual and/or automated data collection methods, combine data from multiple data sources, scrub it in its raw form, and format it for visualization and analysis.

Draw Actionable Insights

Corporater enables you to transform raw data into business intelligence by enriching your data through "man + machine" approach and extracting insights within the tool. (Corporater can also integrate with 3rd party insights tools.) This allows you to gather all insights that a solid business case is built upon.

See the Full Picture

Data insights without the right business context are meaningless. Corporater BMP enables you to have a "full picture" overview with data insights displayed within the context of your department, entity, or your entire business, so you can make smarter, data-driven decisions.

Develop an Action Plan

Turning insights into action requires a proper plan. Corporater BMP allows you to develop integrated project plans complete with key activities, milestones, task owners, risk & cost analysis, and due dates, and link them with your insights and business context to realize the value discovered.

Implement & Execute the Plan

Delivering business impact is dependent on a successful execution driven by a completion of each item on the project plan. Corporater BMP has an execution engine that drives the workflow / processes of your plan allowing you to seamlessly execute multiple tasks in parallel or sequentially.

Drive Business Outcomes

Data and insights alone cannot drive business outcomes.

To achieve business impact, data-driven insights need to be reviewed in business context and be put into action through a well-executed plan.
